

June 10, 1941.

Mr. Ed. Gottlieb,
509 Market St.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Gottlieb:

I am writing to enclose you the bills I received from the men in Trenton the work he did on the job of the game we were rained out. He had distributed 100 placards previously, whatever you decide we should give him, please let me know so I can send him a check.

I also want to ask you at this time, if it is possible, please do not use McClary for our series over this week-end. If we have to use him, please arrange to have another man call bells and strikes.

I hope we will be able to get together Saturday and thrash out the affair that occurred at Yankee Stadium. In my opinion McClary was very wrong. If there is such a rule forbidding a pitcher to throw his leg up, I would appreciate it if he has his rule book to show it to me. If he is right and he forbid the leg being thrown up, he should not have permitted the game to continue, if the ball player would not obey him.

I received your confirmation for Nazareth for Thursday. Abe told me you were sending us to Pitman Friday, if so, please let me know at once, so I can engage rooms in Phila.

Very truly yours,

EM:CCJ